fault from the want of it. The most manifest OUSE, SHIP, AND STEAMBOAT defect probably in our administrative system is the fact that there is not a dietrict in the empire the exact position and resources of which are known to us. The very first condition of successful administration is thus wanting. In Oriesa, the other day, a narrow export of 30,000 tone of rice from a province containing 3,000,000 of people growing nothing but rien, was hold to be conclusive proof that large food reserves existed in the province, while a very brief statistical inquiry would have shown that so narrow an export in the face of the high prices that bad been ruling for years, proved that the province was normally treading on the verge of famine. There are no entisfactory statistics at present in India upon any subject but its trade, while such as do exist are buried in the recesses of the Sceretariate, or in the Appendices to Parliamentary Returns, out of reach of the Harness and Saddlery repaired and renovated.
